

Cause and Effect? By Frank Hibberd

'How dare you charge nineteen pounds ninety nine for a bottle of this rubbish. You are a charlatan, sir, a swindler. I shall have your name removed from the list of qualified pharmacists. Your shop will be closed down. Detimidifying potion, indeed, supposed to cure people of timidity! I'm sure that this is just water with a drop of Worcester sauce added. You should be ashamed! Well, what have you got to say for yourself?'

'What can I say, sir - except that it does appear to have worked?'
